Subject: You should know that in it's infinite wisdom, you cannot get tho feed from MSNBC on anything other than a Windows computer now. This started a few days ago.

Just a little nibble by Microsoft. Another choice gone.

I consider them the most dangerous company/organization in the world.

They provide mediocre to poor software that you are forced to use by sheer weight of their numbers while innovative companies with better ideas or processes are either crushed by their power or bought up.

They should have been broken up.
